THE DEFICIENCY APPROPRIATION BILL.

The house at 11:15 went into committee of the whole, Mr. Updegraff, of Iowa, in the chair, and resumed consideration of the general deficiency appropriation bill. At 3:10 consideration of the bill was completed, and the committee rose and reported it back to the house. Motions to strike out the appropriation for the payment of amounts due the land grant rallroads, for army transportation, and for the bureaus in the navy department were lost. A motion to strike out the clause appropriating $112,600 for the payment of special departy marshals at the congressional elections in 1881 and prior years, was lost. In speaking to this proposition, Mr. Cox, of New York, said: "In as much as the men selected for these positions at our elections performed their work, and are not in any sense responsible for the law under which they acted, and as the money is their due, we desire to say that in voting for this proposition we do not yield our well considered judgment as to the invalidity of the federal law." Washington, June 5.—To-night Washington has its full supply of visiting statesmen from Georgia. The powerful syndicate is represented by some of its leading spirits. Judge Bigby and Colonel Farrow seem to be taking the lead in protesting against the appointment of Judge McCay. They are for Mr. Atkins, but there is a suspicion that either of them would accept the honor for himself if the good of the country demanded it. Brewster has put his protest against the scheme of the syndicate for the judgeship. Athur up. the syndicate for the judgeship. Arthur undoubtedly wants to finish up the state as he started it, but the opposition to Atkins has caused him to halt. The Georgia judgeship will be considered at the cabinet meeting to-morrow and then the final test of strength between the syndicate and its opponents on the Atkins then the final test of strength between the syndicate and its opponents on the Atkins appears to have as free access to the administrative and sever. If he fails of a judgeship Arthur will pack him away somewhere. Mr. Darnell, a republican not in love with the syndicate, and Mr. George S. Thomas, who is an applicant for the district judgeship, are actively at work in Washington. Judge Cunningham's friends think his chances good yet, despite Brewster's positive preference for McCay and Arthur's affection for Atkins.

The syndicate's representative.

The syndicate and its opponents on the Atkins appears to have as free access to the administrative of the whole on the legislative, executive executive and judicial appropriation bill. something on their minds. The president is famous for taking his leisure about all appointments. It may be a long time before the pomination for a judge will be sent in, but the managers of Georgia patronage had reason to believe the executive mind was about fixed on Judge McCay, and hence the rush to Washington. The Georgia politician has become a figure at the capital. He is encouraged by the president, who is the politician's friend, and loves to have a hand in any little game that is going on. The lungs of our Georgia representatives in the lobby hold out wonderfully well. They have done a big part of the wire-resentatives in the lobby hold out wonderfully well. They have done a big part of the wire-pulling of the season, and some of them have made it pay.

The plunge by both houses into active business to day was a cheerful sign. Calkins feels he has done enough to substantiate his boom for governor of Indiana. No more election cases this session. Some of the leading republicans are tired of this programme and the fuss it has occasioned. Washington has a sudden snap of October coolness which will invigorate the statesmen and delay the dispersing effect of a genuine June sun. Some keer fighting on the various appropriation bills may be looked for and the livest scenes of the session may yet occur. John Logan has sore them, over grammar and diction to the delight of those enthusiastic dollowers who are genoming him as a president the statemen and delay the dispersing effect of a genuine June sun. He wants his friend, Green B. Raum, to sit in the senate by him when David Davis says good bye to his seat next March. Raum's name has been flung around loosely in connection with the whisky scandal, but his friends stick to him zealously and his election to the senate is probable. THE TARIFF COMMISSION. Favorable Report to be Made on the Nomination Washington, June 8.—The president to-day nominated A. J. Cropsy to be postmaster at Terrell, Texas. The senate finance committee held a special meeting to-day to consider the tariff commission nominations, which were sent to the senate and referred to this committee in executive session yesterday. After some discussion it was decided to make a faverable report to the senate. All of the republican members of the committee were present and voted aye, while Messrs. A DEMOCRATIC CONSULTATION.

Immediately after the adjournment of the senate to-day twenty-four of its members assembled in caucus for the purpose of interchanging views in regard to the fitness of the president's nominations of tariff commissioners. No attempt was made to secure caucus action on the cuestion and at the conclusion action on the question, and at the conclusion of the conference, which lasted an hour and a half, every senator was left free to vote upon a-half, every senator was left free to vote upon it in executive session according to his own judgment or his individual bias. It was developed, however, by an interchange of views on the part of those present, and by trustworthy statements in regard to nearly all of the absentees, that the democratic members of the senate are practically unanimous in holding that the commission is unfairly constituted and should therefore be rejected. The ground was taken by nearly all the speakers (including Senator Bayard and some others who yoted for the tariff commission bill) that who voted for the tariff commission bill) that the proposed membership of the commission is wholly inconsistent with the avowed pur-pose of the bill, which contemplated an impartial investigation, and looked to recommendations which should be free from suspicion of self-interest. It was asserted that two of the nominees, namely, Hayes of Massachusetts, and Garland of Illinois, are salaried officers of a protective high tariff association, and that a third, Mr. Porter, of the District of Columbia. is a stipendiary of the District of Columbia, is a stipendiary of the same organization. Oliver, of Pennsylva-nia, and Kenner, of Louisiana, were criticis-ed as being likewise champions of protection for special interests, who might well be expected to combine with the above named members in the interest of a high tariff generally. Judge Underwood, of Georgia, was referred to as "an obscure old man, nominated at the instance of the Georgia protectionists, and Ambler, of Ohio, whom Senator Pendleton declared he had nover heard of until nominadeclared he had never heard of until nominated for a place on the commission, although regarded to some extent as an "uncertain quantity," and was generally believed by members of the caucus to be also a friend of high tariff. The seventh gentleman nomina-ted for membership, Mr. Phelps, of Mary-land, was spoken of as a tariff reformer, but it was also announced that he had declined the appointment. So far as can be ascertained senators willing to vote for the confirmation reason of their having respectively recom-mended two of the members appointed. On the other hand it is understood that Senators Van Wyck and Ingalls will vote with the body of democrats against confirmation. SENATOR BEN HILL.

HIS NON-ARRIVAL IN ATLANTA YESTERDAY.

Shed to Meet Him-The Disappointment When He Did Not Arrive-He Will Certainly Arrive at One O'clock To-Day.

On yesterday at about noon large numbers of our leading citizens were seen collecting at the passenger depot. It had been announced in yesterday morning's paper that Senator Hill would reach Atlanta on the noon train and these gentlemen were gathering for the purpose of expressing their sympathy with Mr. Hill and his family. The great depot and all the approaches to it were filled with a large crowd, in which there were many ladies. It had been announced that Mr. Hill was not on the train, a dispatch having been received by Superintendent Anderson, of the Western and Atlantic road, and that he would not reach the city until the 8:40 train at night. In spite of this rumor the crowd continued to grow, the people being anxious to meet our sick senator when he reached the city, and preferred to stay rather than take the co of his coming. When the train came in the crowd was scarcely able to make way for the engine, and the track on each side was lined with a dense mass. It was discovered that the dispatch was true, and that Mr. Hill, from some cause or other, laid over at some point on the journey. The crowd then slowly dispersed.

A special train consisting of an engine and

A special train consisting of an engine and sleeper was following the regular train, and on this sleeper was printed in large letters the word Eureka. Many of those who had left the depot seeing this special car with the name Eureka on it thought it was Mr. Hill's train and returned to the depot. They found, however, that it was not. Last night at 8 o'clock the same scenes were enacted at the depot, the people gathering in large crowds and being subjected to the same rumors and the same disappointment.

Early yesterday afternoon Dr. Ridley received a dispatch from Mr. B. H. Hill, Jr., stating that he and his father would not reach Atlanta until one o'clock to-day. They will certainly be here at that time, when there will be a grand turning out of the citizens of will be a grand turning out of the cutzens of Atlanta to express in a quiet way their love and sympathy for the sick senator. It was determined on yesterday that it was best to make no demonstration at the depot and the plan of fastening ropes to the senator's carriage and drawing it to his home was abandoned. It was ascertained that he was quite weak and was very much plan of fastening ropes to the senator's carriage and drawing it to his home was abandoned. pecial Correspondence of the Constitution. Talborron, June 7 .- This community was hocked recently when it was learned that Mr. H. C. Brown, one of our cleverest Joung merchants, had lost his arm in a threshing machine. Mr. B. was having his crop of oats threshed out by the steam threshing machine of Mr. W. H. Martin, and they had threshed out about 200 bushels on Friday last, and were about closing up for the day at about sundown, when Mr. B. discovered some loose oats on the front of the machine, and while it was still running, climbed upon the right fore wheel of the same, and with his left hand attempted to brush in the oats and in a moment his strong arm was caught by the merciless teeth of the machine and literally torn to pieces from the elbow down. The arm was completely unjointed at the elbow and the flesh torn from the bone two or three inches above the elbow. Medical assistance was speedily summoned and the arm was amputated about half way between the elbow and shoulder, Drs. Bardwell and Philpot performing the operation. Mr. Brown is now doing as well as could be expected. Know-Major Charles Latimer had known Mr. ill since he first entered public life and was 1 of his strongest friends and greatest adirers, I called his attention to the announcement made in this morning's Constitution of his expected arrival in your city this evening. After reading it Major Latimer said many highly complimentary things about Mr. Hill, and expressed in the very strongest lat age his admiration, love and sympathy for Mr. Hill. He claimed he was a greater man than Webster, Calhoun or Clay; in fact, said he believed him to be the greatest in fact, said he believed him to be the greatest statesman that ever lived. No one could sit with dry eyes and hear Major Latimer, who is now 85 years old, tell of his great love and admiration for Mr. Hill. In conclusion of Major Latimer's conversation, he said, in the tenderest and most affectionate manner: "I must go to Atlanta and see Ben, if they will illow me to"—and after a long pause, with uivering voice and large tears in his eyes, and it will be the last time I will ever see him in this world, but I want to see him once more." From the Dublin, Ga., Post. On Saturday night last Mr. W. L. Renfroe left Dublin late after supper, and having some twelve miles to drive he did not reach home till 2 o'clock Sunday morning. Mr, Renfroe's house is about half a mile beyond Rocky creek-a stream which is known to be infested with alligators. He had crossed the creek and was near the house, where he had a dozen young pigs confined in a pen. The moon was n the zenith and the night was almost as bright as day. Suddenly his horse received a penderous blow on the shoulder from the tail of an alligator, knocking the animal entirely out of the road. The alligator did not follow up the fight, but now stood on the defense, in a threatening attitude, however, with his huge mouth stretched open wide enough to take in the end of a barrel. Mr. R. took a rail from the fence and rammed it into the monster's throat. As quick as light the alligator closed on the rail and hurled Mr. R. against the fence, hurting him badly, and snapping the rail like a chalk pipe stem. He then called to his family to send him his gun, pistol and ax. While waiting tor his weapons he amused himself by pitch-ing fence rails into the alligator's mouth. He

When the monster began to feel that his foes were getting the best of him, in the agony of pain and despair, he belloed out, making the earth tremble. He was brought to town and put on exhibition here Sunday afternoon and was a big show. He was pronounced by all to be the largest alligator they had ever seen. A Rainbow Circle.

From the Warrenton, Ga. Clipper.

A beautiful rainbow circle around the sun caused a sensation here last Wednesday about one o'clock. No one seems to remember ever seeing such a phenomenon before. Our solution of the cause is simply this: A light, misty cloud passed under the sun, which be-ing almost diametrical, fell just obliquely enough to give the perfect circle of the rain-bow in a mild form instead of the half circle enlarged and dense usually seen in the morning or evening. Its long continuance was owing to the extent of the cloud and its slow progress. It enlarged as the sun fell towards the west which showed it would eventually come to a half circle if the clouds remained and moved eastward.

He Played It.
From the Oglethorpe, Ga., Echo.
A gentleman living in the Flatwoods, a "physicer," retired to his downy couch one night, leaving in the room a playful member of the feline family which began its capers ere he visited dreamland, causing him to arise to eject the interrupter of his anticipated peace-ful slumbers. Not taking the precaution to make a light he barked his shins over the furniture until he became wrathy with the cause of all his troubles, and making a sudden dive he succeeded in grasping its tail when, thinking the window was up, he hurled it with force out the same. It happened, how ever, that the window was not up and in going out the cat took a few panes and the sash long with it.

STRIKING TOO MUCH OIL. Ourious Condition of Affairs Caused by the Rec

Philadelphia, June 7.—An anomalous condition of things exists to-day in the oil country. Too much natural wealth is fast bankrupting the energetic oil operator. The production for the past year, according to the Times, has aggregated nearly thirty million barrels of crude oil, with a consumption of less than two-thirds of that amount. For the past five years the production has been in exless than two-thirds of that amount. For the past five years the production has been in excess of the demand, and has accumulated in the storage tanks in the oil region and at the seaboard until upward of thirty millions of barrels are held in these receptacles. This in itself would not be an alarming state of affairs, as there would in fact be less than two years' supply if the production were to cease. But the busy drill keeps tapping new reservoirs and thus increasing the already enormous production. The hopeful operator thought he saw a chance for an improvement in the market when the great provement in the market when the great McKean county oil field reached the climax McKean county oil field reached the climax of its enormous production about one year ago. But the opening of the new field in Alleghany county, New York, more than made up for the decline in the Bradford production and kept the prices badly depressed. Still the sanguine oil producer hoped that soon this new El Dorado would show signs of exhaustion and give the guarantee of better prices in the near future. There were many things to lend encouragement to this view. The Alleghany field was soon defined and its limits known, and thus it became a matter of almost absolute certainty when its highest almost absolute certainty when its highest point would be reached and passed and the total production show a marked decline.

But just as that hopeful condition of affairs had been reached a new field has been opened in Warren county which bids fair to prove richer in production than any district which has been operated in a long time. This field is in the midst of a dense forest in Cherry Grove township and promises to be extensive in dimensions as well as rich in quality. Four wells so far have been drilled and are producing. The first, known as the "646 Mystery," owned by the Union oil company, is producing at the rate of five hundred barrels per day or more. The next important strike was that of Murphy and Davis, of Philadelphia, on lot 619, a mile or so northeast of the phia, on lot 619, a mile or so northeast of the famous Mystery, which is quoted at 800 barrels per day.

But the most astonishing strike in connection with this field is the Cadwallader well, which struck the sand on Friday and was reported at the Tidewater office in this city yesterday to be flowing at the astonishing rate of 3,000 barrels per day. Of course this is probably some what exaggerated, but enough is known to warrant the assertion that a more prolific field never was opened in the oil country.

The effect has been to send oil down to a very low figure—so low, indeed, that in the older fields, like Bradford and what are known as the lower country, operations will find hard sledding to get along at all in competition with this exceedingly rich deposit. There are several more wells under way in the new field, and as it only takes from two to three weeks to drill a well in this field there is likely to be several more big beautiful. is likely to be several more big bears on an already depressed, market soon. Of course the production will decline very fast in the old fields, as many of the smaller wells will be abandoned of necessity, the present low price of oil making them entirely unremunerative.

In the meantime the Warren county wil-In the meantime the Warren county wilderness is fast becoming a hive of busy industry, and where a few days ago nothing but a dense forest of hemlock and beech was to be seen towns are springing up and merchants, shop-keepers and tool makers are eagerly plying their various trades. The developments of the next few days will be eagerly watched, and if the field promises to prove extensive an eager rush will be made for lands and leases, as this immense production will comleases, as this immense production will compel the abandonment of the less prolific fields.

AN OLD PUZZLE REVIVED. The Simple Diagram Which is Fretting the People of Louisville.

Professor Tobin, of the Louisville Polytechnic school, the other day, says the Courier-Journal, at a hotel dinner table drew the fol-lowing diagram on the back of a bill of fare:

"Now," he said to the interested lookers-on who inquired as to the object of his sketch, "the object is to trace this figure of the circumscribed square without removing the pencil from the paper or retracing any of the "Can it be done?" asked half a dozen voices at once.

"You can all see me do it," and as he spoke

"You can all see me do it," and as he spoke the pencil flew around the various curves and angles, and the figure was complete.

In less time than it takes to write it all the gentlemen had taken out their pencils and were hard at work on the puzzle. The success was about uniform—each man found himself one line short. Again and again the same thing was accomplished but no one was successful. Then the dinner came in and the matter dropped for the time being. But the end was not yet. The seeds had been sown and soon bore fruit. The single trial had been fatal to the peace of mind not only of those who were present, but by degrees of the whole community.

those who were present, but by degrees of the whole community.

Since that day there has been a serious state of things in Louisville, for which Professor Tobin alone is responsible. The fever has spread like wildfire, and everybody is at work on the puzzle. It sticks more tenaciously than did the accursed 13, 14, 15, and the man who once has yielded to the temptation of trying to solve it is wretched beyond description. Not a scrap of paper is to be found that does not bear the mysterious cris-cross which bears silent but incontrovertible testimony to does not bear the mysterious cris-cross which bears silent but incontrovertible testimony to the abortive efforts at solution which are driving to the lunatic asylum the wretched victims of the baleful diagram. At lawyers offices, at the clubs and in the counting-rooms, "up stairs and down stairs and in the ladies' chamber," all Louisville is at work upon the puzzle, and it is said that the board of trade, though the puzzle is as old as the hills, and can doubtless be done by a majority of the children in the public schools of New York, has made a formal demand on Professor Tobin to publish the solution, lest business should be so utterly neglected that the grass will begin to grow in Main street.

THOMAS JEFFERSON'S BODY.

Action by Virginia Heirs which will Probably Prevent Disinterment.

RICHMOND, June 7.—R. T. W. Duke, attorney for the Randolph heirs, has written the following letter to the Glenwood cemetery authorities at Washington in relation to the removal of the body of Thomas Jefferson from its present resting place: Charlottesville, Va., June 3, 1882.—To Judge Barley, President of Glenwood Cemetery, Washington, D. C.: As legal adviser of the owners of the Monticello graveyard, I am instructed by them to inform you that they will not allow Jefferson's remains to be removed to another cemetery, the said owners of the graveyard being the heirs of the late Thomas Jefferson Randolph, executor of Thomas Jefferson and residuary legatee of his mother, Mrs. Martha Jefferson Randolph, who, jointly with him, signed the deed conveying Monticello to its purchaser, in which deed the graveyard is reserved and exempted from the sale, are, by the laws of Virginia, sole custodians of the remains of Jefferson, which they will under no consideration allow to be removed from the spot. The publication of certain communi-cations to your board, said to have been made by Jefferson's sole surviving grand-child, and by Jefferson's sole surviving grand-child, and your reported action thereon, calls for this communication to you."

It is supposed that this action will put a stop to the agitation of the disinterment of the remains of Mr. Jefferson. If it does not, his heirs in this state will certainly adopt all the legal means in their power, which are believed to be adequate to accomplish that end, to prevent the disturbance of Jefferson's body.

State of Georgia, Fulton County—To the Superior Court of said County.

THE PETITION OF ROBERT J. LOWRY, HENRY W Grady, W W Austell, W A Huff, Joseph F Burke, A G Howard, E D Weyburn and L W Scoville, respectfully shows that they have associated themselves together for the purpose of promoting the art and science of musice in the city of Atlanta, said county, under the name of "The Atlanta Musical Union," the pincipal office of said association to be in said county of Fulton.

The general object of said association is the organization of a fist-class military band, and also a first-class chorus and orchestra, and to furnish music of all kinds when required for parades, concerts and other public occasions, and to hold musical festivals and give concerts at such time, or times, as may be deemed advisable, and charge such compensation as may be agreed upon, or that may be reasonable, and to the end that said objects may be fully carried ozt, they desire corporate authority under the name aforesaid to employ such musicians as may be pnecessary, to purchase, hold and enjoy real and personal property, the same to dispose of at pleasure.

To make by laws for the government of said as-pleasure.

To make by-laws for the government of said association not in conflict with the laws of said To make contracts, sue and be sued, and to have and use a common seal. To make contracts, sue and be sued, and to have and use a common scal.

To receive donations of real or personal property.

To do all and singular such acts as may be deemed requisite to the full and comple carrying out of the purposes and objects of said association.

The said association not being formed for purposes of procuring gain solely, but depending for its support largely upon voluntary contributions. They desire to fix the capital stock at five thousand dollars, to be increased to twenty thousand dollars when necessary, to be divided into shares of five dollars each. Ten per cent of the first named sum will be paid in before they commence to exercise the powers under charter asked for.

Certificates of stock to be issued to each subscriber on his paying into the treasury of said association the amount of his subscription.

Wherefore they pray an order incorporating them, their associates and successors under the name aforessid for the full term of twenty years with the privilege of renewal at the expiration of said time.

State of Georgia, Fulton County. To the Superior Court of said County.

THE PETITION OF J. H. WOODARD, E. P. Miller, and Daniel McCauley, respectfully shows that they desire to be incorporated and made a body corporate and politic, under the laws of Georgia, with the corporate name and style of THE ATLANTA TRANSFER COMPANY.

The objects of said corporation are pecuniary gain to its stockholders by means of carrying on the business of transferring and delivering freight and passengers, and parcels, and baggage, as hereinafter stated.

to its stockholders by means of carrying on the business of transferring and delivering freight and passengers, and parcels, and baggage, as hereinafter stated.

SECOND—The particular business of said corporation will be to deliver parcels, and baggage, and freights and passengers, and transfer the same in the city of Atlanta and the surrounding country from point to point, by means of wagons, carts, delivery wagons, hacks, buggies, carriages, and any and all other vehicles necessary or proper to do so, and which may be drawn and carried, or impelled by animal power, such as horses, nules, etc; and for such transfer or delivery said corporation will have tolb and charges, which it asks authority to levy, fix and collect.

THIKD—The chief office of the corporation and the chief place of doing its business will be in the city of Atlanta, in said county of Fulton; but petitioners desire said corporation to do business in such other places in this fate as its interest may require, or as it may deem profitable.

FOURTH—The capital stock of said corporation shall be one hundred dollars cach, and of said sum there has been paid in the sum of ten thousand dollars. Petitioners desire sum of two hundred and fifty thousand dollars.

FIFTH—Petitioners desire to be incorporated for the term of twenty years, with the privilege of renewal as often as can be done under the laws.

SIXTH—They desire said corporation to have the power of suing and being sued, and to have and use a common seal, and to have succession, and to make such by-laws, rules and regulations as it makes binding on its own members as are not inconsistent with the laws of this State, or of the United States, and to alter, mend and rescind the same at pleasure; and to do all such acts as are necessary for the legitimate execution of its powers and the carrying ont of its object.

SEVENTH—Fettioners ask that they may be mecessary for the legitimate execution of its powers and the carrying ont of its object.

SEVENTH—Fettioners ask that they may be published in

THE BIBB PROPERTY—FOURTEEN VALUBLE lots at Bellwood at auction, to-day, at the pleasant suburbau village of Bellwood, and front the Mason and Turner's Ferry Road and Bibb street at the crossing of the Western and Atlantic railroad, adjoining Dennis's Store and residence lot, within 50 yards of Marietta street car ime, and only 50 feet from the railroad, which makes it very convenient and vallable for manufacturing sites, being so near the railroad it is nearly as convenient for receiving and shipping as if it fronted immediately on the railroad. The scarcity and great demand for manufacturing sites along the Westarn and Atlantic and Georgia Pacific railroads have caused such property to advance wonderfully in price in the last year, and nearly every railroad front has been bought.

But everyboody can't get a railroad frost, and the next best property to buy, either for manufacturing purposes or speculation, is that nearest to and most convenient of access from the railroad. This property is most favorably and conveniently situated for manufacturing. It is only 50 feet from the addroad, fronts a main public from the detty, and is just out of the city finits where it will be exempt from city taxes, yet convenient to and easy of access from all parts of the city. All who contemplate engaging in any manufacturing business should attend the safe.

The elevated portion of the ground can be graded down and worked into brick to build with, as it is said to be geod clay. For homes this property offers extra inducements. It is in a quiet, pleasant, healthy and convenient location, near street cars, stores, schools, churches and the manufacturing

AILANIA, GA., JUNE 9, 1882. SUPREME COURT DECISIONS. The Supreme Court Decisions for February term, 1882, are now ready. Price one dollar.

THE signal service bureau report indicates to-day, for the south Atlantic states, southerly to westerly winds, with occasional rain; stationary to slowly falling barometer; stationary temperature.

Ir is telegraphed from New York that Georgia peaches are coming in on time and in good order. Taken all round in New York and the west the transportation problem has been very well settled.

Ir would seem a difficult thing to do to strike to much oil. That, however, is what it appears has been done in the new Pennsylvania oil fields, where the oil is so plentiful that the price is barely enough to work the FURTHER information about the alleged Beli railroad discloses the welcome fact that it is a real scheme backed by men of capital, character and enterprise. The sooner it is built and the several railroads avail themselves of it the better Atlanta will like it.

Side street railway will soon be built. There a campaign is unnecessary, while any bitteris little doubt that it would have an immediately beneficial effect to have the road built, and there is much reason on the side of the | wholly without excuse. south siders in their plea for city help in grad-

Nor since the game of fifteen has anything had such a run as the old puzzle which is given elsewhere. Washington is insane on the subject and New York's senses are fast deserting her. Louisville, where it started, is completely dazed. It is left for Atlanta to solve the problem and to get ahead of the other cities, which are still puzzled.

Ir appears that in Washington they se signs of dissolution in the syndicate. It is believed that Colonel Farrow, in his anxiety to have his personal whims satisfied, will kill thur. In the expressive language of the rural districts, he has "bit off more than he can ernor of the whole people. chaw" in trying to force the nomination of James Atkins for the new judgeship.

CITIZENS ought not to wait to be called on for their beauties and curiosities of art, fine and decorative. The exhibition must be made a success. There is so much in successful be ginnings, and this exhibition can only be a beginning. Everyone should therefore offer freely, that selection may be made, and the committee can hardly be expected to look for things which they may not know as existing.

Just now there is much interest in the oleoing. Some of the ins and outs of the trade "bull butter" has been sold in Atlanta. There be sold for what it is and not for what it is not. It is an excellent substitute for butter; but it is not the real article, and should not be sold as such.

THE supply of Georgia bills is by no means exhausted. On Monday Mr. Black, through Mr. Turner, introduced a bill for the relief of Robert Erwin, and Mr. Cook a bill to authorize the construction of bridges over the rivers Saint Marys, Satilla and Little Satilla, and a bill to authorize the Savannah, Americus and Montgomery railroad company to construct a bridge over the Ogeechee, Oconee, Ocmulgee Flint and Chattahoochee rivers.

IF we are to have a fourth of July celebration-and that seems to be the present public desire-now is the time to make arrangements properly to celebrate. Some excellent sugtions have already been made. A pyro technical suggestion is now added, which would be pleasing if carried out. So would many other ideas be excellent in effect. Something ought to be done. As Fresh, the American, would say, "We can do it, and we will." Some one must move first, though.

THE report of the New York cotton exinge should be read by every man who cotton and the remarks on sanded and v cotton taken well to heart. It may not erally be known, but the presence of an preciable amount of sand in cotton reduces the price two cents a pound or ten'dollars a bale. Such is the case, and if the grower could be persuaded that it is profitable as well as economical thoroughly to clean his cotton the grade and price would be greatly im-

Few countries have so much difficulty and trouble with their money as ours. No one knows how much is yearly paid to support the secret service division of the treasury which is continually occupied with running down counterfeiters. It is certain that the secret service bill is something enormous. In return for this the country gets very little. More than once there has been a scandal and a cleaning out in the division. This time it seems to be in a worse order than before; for its officials have con nived at the stealing of genuine plates by well known forgers. Such a state of affairs is

Mr. Kenner is also a democrat, but he is also a sugar planter.

THERE WILL BE NO BOLTING. We forgive the Macon Telegraph its allusion to our impertinence, considering that it has squarely answered our inquiry as to its bolting the democratic convention. The Telegraph says that it will stand by the result of the convention, and support Mr. Stephens if he is nominated on an acceptable platform. This is an important statement, in that it comes from the bitterest opponent to Mr. Stephens in the whole state. It re moves the danger of any division in the party and the democracy will present an unbroken front to its enemies after that convention has acted. The fears of the Telegraph, that if Mr. Stephens was nominated there would be a divided party, are thus removed. If the Telegraph can take Mr. Stephens after its bitter campaign-and it says frankly that it canthere need be no fear that anybody else will bolt his nomination. This is as it should be A PARTISAN GOVERNOR.

The Macon Telegraph continues to insist most strenuously that it is the purpose and desire of the people of Georgia to place a par tisan governor in the executive chair. We are convinced that our contemporary is very far from representing democratic opinio upon this particular subject; but if it should be otherwise-that is to say, should a partisar governor be selected to administer the affairs of state-the harmony and unity of the organization, of which the Telegraph and THE Constitution are now boasting, would not survive his term of office. If there has ever been a time when the democrats either expected or desired the governor of the state to disply partisanship in the executive office, that time is past. Not only is a partisan governor not desirable, but the democratic majority is so MR. CASTLEMAN is sanguine that the South large that any strenuous partisanship even in ness in the discussion of the merits of candidates that may offer for the nomination is

The Telegraph is driven into this attitude, which is in curious contrast with the spirit of democratic teachings, by its unreasoning opposition to Mr. Stephens. This venerable Georgian, it will be borne in mind, has recently declared that if he should be honored with the governorship by the democratic party, he will be the governor of the whole people; and our Macon contemporary takes advantage of the statement to declare that the people of Geor gia are clamoring for a partisan governor, and to conjure up various contingencies which have an existence only in its own lively inagination. It says that with a declaration of this sort the people will not be satisfied; that the political golden goose, whose name is Ar- the democratic voters of the state have no idea of electing a man who will be the gov

> Fortunately for the state-fortunately for the people themselves-the democrats have never yet elected a governor who was not the governor of the whole people. They have never yet elected a partisan governor, and there is no likelihood that they will begin now when there is no necessity for the display of partisanship in any direction. If he is elected, he will be elected as an organized, and those who desire to see him made gov ernor, and who are anxious for an opportu nity to support him for that office, have the most implicit confidence in his wisdom and good judgment. There is not a democratic voter in the state who doubts that Mr. Stephens will appoint good men and democrats to office. At the same time, he will not be a

THE SOUTHERN PINE FORESTS. that the turpentine interests, having about exhausted North Carolina, are beginning their ravages in Georgia. We say beginning, but miles and miles of pine forests have already been laid waste, and the hewing and hacking proceeds at a livelier rate every day. Aiding the turpentine men in this work of destruction are the timber-cutters who neglect all their other business, and are never happy unless they are weeping over low prices among the booms of Darien. Now, the question arises, what are these people to do, when, through their own carelessness and neglect, they have utterly wasted the richest possessions to be found in the country? Are they making arrangements to secure another growth of pine when the present forests disappear? they protecting the young seedlings, or are they leaving vigorous trees here and there to represent and promote the growth of the future? A few years ago it was thought that the pine forests of the lake region were practically nexhaustible, but it is now stated by those who have made this whole question a subject of study that at the present rate of consumption these forests will be exhausted within twelve years. It should be borne in mind, however, that the destruction of the northwestern pines will not materially increase the price of timber. According to the figures of the last census, Louisiana contains more than eighty-four billion feet of merchantable pine, more than there was in 1880 in Michigan, Wisconsin and Minnesota. Arkansas has fortyone billion feet of yellow pine, and it is estimated that Texas has about sixty-seven billion

A great deal of northern capital is now seeking, or has already sought, investment in the lumber interests of the south, but such investments as these are not in the direction of the material development of our section unless some method is injected with the madness which has heretofore seemed to be at the carefully excluded, although they had bottom of the destruction of our pine forests.

It ought to be said that there was still enough pine timber in the southern belt at the close of the census year to last the country two hundred and fifty years at the pres ent rate of consumption, and so there is no danger of a pine famine; but the forests of Georgia will disappear under the eyes of the present generation unless care is taken to promote and preserve new growths.

president down, is obliged to admit that it has been the chief source of all the dissensions which have grown out of them. It affords a good opportunity for tricky politicians to defeat the will of the people by causing the majority and minority to contend for their choice until both sides are exhausted, and then slip in a candidate of whom the people had scarcely ever heard and induce the convention to compromise their differences on him. The majority rule is democratic and fair, and we are unable to see where any danger to the party could result from its adoption.

What She Wanted for Dinner From a Letter in the Boston Transcript. I have recalled several times during the writin of this letter, and for reasons, a morn I once spen with "Fanny Fern," who was always good and with "Fanny Fern," who was always good and kind to young people, especially if they aspired to scribbling for the ninter. She was busy, and had givey orders that there were to be no interruptions for any reason. Suddenly there broke upon our stillness—she was writing and I reading—a loud kneck upon the door. "What is it?" said Mrs. Parton, a trifle impatiently. It was the cook, a new one. "Plase, ma'am, nothing has come for dinner. What will I do, ma'am?" "Do? Why, cook the cat! but leave me alone," and she gently shut the door and turned the key. I did not stay to dinner. A kinder-hearted woman than "Fanny Fern" never lived; but, like all women who seeks seclusion and quiet, at times she had to fight for it.

The Road to Political Decay.

Little Rock Gazette. It happens that Hon. A.H.Stephens overshadow all other Georgians; and now that it is proposed to all other Georgians; and now that it is proposed to nominate him for governor, small men, jealous of his great fame, are urging objections, which The ATLANTA CONSTITUTION thus summarizes: 1. His nomination would divide the party; 2. The opposition to his nomination on the part of a large number of democrats is unalterable; 3. The isdependents speak well of him; 4. It is not certain that he is a genutine democrat; 5. He is physically unable to attend to the duties of the executive office; 6. His candidacy is the result of an attempt on the part of certain bosses to force him upon the party. These objections The Constitution dismisses in a few words, as unworthy of consideration. Mr. Stephens belongs to the tclass of public men of much greater value to political parties than political parties can possibly be to them. He is a statesman, whose teachings do not rely for force upon the official stamp of their authorship. In private life Mr. Stephens's voice can be heard as far as when in public position. He is a man of the people—one in whom the people, irrespective of political affiliations, have the utmost confidence; and he can expound more genuine democracy in an hour than the little mousing politicians who object will ever be able to learn, even if each live to the age of Methusaleh.

The chief weakness of the Georgia democracy is an overwhelming majority, on which ambitious politicians have traded until dissensions have accumulated that may mean mischief in the near future. And this fact explains why thoughtful democrats, able to rise above the principle embraced in the "five loaves and two fishes" of office, ominate him for governor, small men, jealous of cumulated that may mean interest in the feature. And this fact explains why thoughtful democrats, able to rise above the principle embraced in the "five loaves and two fishes" of office, turn to Mr. Stophens, as the one strong man who can restore confidence, silence discontent and lead the party to a victory, won, not by grudging support to the nominee, because his name means real democracy, and government administered for the benefit of the whole people.

One of the unerring signals of danger to a political party is blind reliance by mere politicians on the power of organization to win victories for men shrewd enough to control nominating conventions, but who are distanted in the body of the people. To this cause can disintegration and decay be generally traced. It may succeed, even for years; but each victory only loosens the foundation and prepares the structure for the final overthrow. It is each victory only loosens the foundation and prigares the structure for the final overthrow. It difficult to impress this truth upon the class opoliticians to whom the influences which now men's minds are as a sealed book; whose sole relance is upon the machine, and who are incapable of tracing the lines which lead from cause to effect but its force is ever present to those who look below the surface, and who find their most valuable lesons in the study of the unwritten book of huma nature.

We unhesitatingly say "little Alex" is the man. He has done more to cook the coalition than all the pointicians of the state besides could have done, and his election to the high office of governor, for which his ability and experience so eminently fit him, will do that which the election of no other man could so effectually do—narmonize all differences in the democratic party in Georgia.

Butler Herald.

With reference to the time at which Mr. Stephens announced his purpose of abiding by the nomination of the regular democracy, we have this to say; It seems to us that Mr. Stephens has acted with the bestof judgment in defluing his position. We have no doubt that as soon as it became apparent that there was some doubt with reference to his position he at once spoke out, and that in no ancertain tone of voice. Had he have spoken much sooner his opponents would have said he was 'fishing' for nomination. Upon the whole, therefore we repeat, that in our judgment, Mr. Stewhens has chosen a very appropriate time to let the country know exactly where he stands. Butler Herald. Columbus Times

Columbus Times.

It must strike every reading and thinking man in Georgia as strange that the democracy of Mr. Stephens should be questioned. Mr. Stephens aba a doned the old whig party when it had strength in Georgia and power all over the United States, and embraced democracy for itself alone, and because he thought he saw more in it in harmony with his views of the real genius of the government as established by the fathers, than there was in the party of his first love. He has lived ever since a consistent democrat—though possibly not aiways bowling to the behests of assumed leaders—and is to-day as pure a model of that political faith as can the behests of assumed leaders—and is to-day as pure a model of that political faith as can be found in the land. These facts must be seen by everybody, and whoever may choose to oppose his election to the governorship of Georgia must do it on grounds other than the unsoundness of his democracy. The distinction, between being a consistent democrat, and a blind party man, however, must be drawn, for he does not profess party fidelity, when party antagonizes principles. We know there are thousands of the truest men in the state who have objections to Mr Stephens, and we can ourselves sympathise with some of these objections, but no objection that we could urge, is based upon any flaw in Mr. Stephens's lemocracy.

"Do you love me, Rupert?" The soft rays of the evening sun were limning the ocking treetops with a halo of golden splendor; the zephers of the night were kissing into somnolence the flowers that by day had smiled in the meadows: the doves nestled their downy heads under their wings, little wotting that the halcyon days of poppies would soon be present; while the old man had the bull dog out in the barn putting a wire edge on his teeth, such is the chromo that pre sents itself to the rapidly dying reader.

Large Excursion of Representative Men to Ball An excursion composed of representative men eft the city yesterday morning at seven o'clock for a trip over the Marietta and North Georgia railroad. The party was quite select, numbered over one hundred, and embraced the most wealthy and influential class of Atlanta's citizens. Among the number were bankers, leading merchants, professional men and capitalists, the party representing in the aggregate several millions of money. At Marietta the excursion was joined by a number of citizens and the silver cornet band, number of catizens and the silver cornet band, which enlivened the day with good music. The new road lies through a very fertile and picturesque country, and a section of the state rich in minerals. That this road will develop these resources and open up a country heretofore practically shut off from the world there is no doubt, and the excursion yesterday is a long step towards the accomplishment of this work. Two hours' ride brought the party to Ball Ground, the present terminus of the road. Lunch was served here at noon, and on the return trip the train stopped at Canton, where an elegant dinner was spread at 2 o'clock. This was given at the hotel and was gotten up in the best style of the culinary art by Messrs Holland and given at the hotel and was gotten up in the best style of the culinary art by Messrs. Judge James R. Brown, of Cherokee, Mr. David Mayer, Dr. N. A. Pratt, and others were called upon, and responded in their happiest strain, entertaining and amusing the crowd no little. Governor Bullock and Professor W. H. Peck were also called for, but were not present. At five o'clock the party look the cars for home, leaving Canton with a most favorable impression of the town and her citizens. In a few hours the excursionists arrived in Atlanta. A better or more orderly crowd of men never left the city, and certainly no similar occasion has ever been more enjoyable. Too much praise cannot be bestowed on the gentlemanly superintendent, Mr. C. E. Adams, and under the management of these gentlemen that the excursion was so pleasantly and successfully conducted. The road tendered the excursion as complimentary, and the invitations were extended through Colonel R. F. Maddox, who was chiefly instrumental in making the affair such a complete success. Arriving at Marietts the party repaired to the Kennesaw house, and it was suggested that since the day had been so enjoyable a meeting be held to make some public expression of thanks, whereupon, on motion, Mr. David Mayer was called to the chair and Mr. W. The Closing of Stewart's Business. NEW YORK, June 8 .- It has been determined by the firm of A. T. Stewart & Co. to close up their store on June 30. Every effort is being made to sell out the stock on hand, but it is confidently stated that an immense amount of goods will remain un-sold when the shutters go down. Some arrange-ment will have to be made to dispose of these in bulk. Since two hundred men were discharged a fortnight ago, others have received their dismission in batches of from twenty to fifty. Every branch of the business whose continuance was rendered of the business whose continuance was rendered unnecessary by the approaching suspension has been summarily lopped off. In this way the credit department, with its clerks, has been cut adrift. It is estimated that about 400 men have already been dispensed with, and that 1,100 remain to be thrown out of employment at the end of this month. The discharged employes find it difficult to obtain new positions at this season of the year While looking for other employment most of them have no savings to fall back upon. Increase in Eastbound Freight Tonnage. CHICAGO, June 8.—The freight statistics eek show an increase in the eastward movement of 670 tons over the shipments of the week precedof or tons over the ampinents of the week preceding. During the week there was a noticeable improvement in the number and volume of shipment of provisions to the continent, principally to Antwerp. It is understood in shipping circles that the meats were shipped to that point to be used in filling short contracts. One feature of the deal is the ing short contracts. One feature of the deal is the fact that bacon has recently returned from Antwerp to Chicago for the purpose of depleting the stock of provisions in that market, the dealers there having oversold. They are now reshipping the same class of meats from Chicago to Antwerp. There has also been a fair export of meats on Liverpool orders, but the export of the grain and four has been extremely light. The confidence in the maintenance of reight rates has been general. The total move-nent of freight eastward was 19,407 tons.

From the description given of Brent Chiet Connolly suspected him and in a few seconds a detective was hunting him down. Only a short trace was required to find that Brent, after leaving Kairns, had visited houses of questionable character, where he indulged in champagne at five dollars a bottle and where he gave away luck dollars by the wholesale to his frail companions Following this clue the detective learned that Brent had been seen in company with a news butcher by the name of Williams, who runs on the Air-Line road between Atlanta and Charlotte. These two were seen together at the car-shed yesterday morning before the Air-Line train left and then all trace of Brent was lost.

After ascertaining these facts from the detective the chief sent the following telegram to Carlotte: Paintings will be exhibited at the Art Loan Exhibition that are the work of men whose reputation as artists is not confined to any country. I will give special rates on the Rogers shingle by the car load. Dealers will do well to send in their orders early. W S Bell, 147 Decatur street, junes—d4t

The two went over to a prominent wholesale produce house and the reporter was shown a row of tubs which contained the manufactured butter. A box in, which the butter was also placed had been opened and exposed the chunks of yellow oleomargarine wrapped in thin cloth.

"What does that sell at?" asked the reporter. "It sells here at 22 cents wholesale, but in New Orleans, where it is made, the price is from 14 to 16 cents. In some places it sells as low as 12 cents. It retails at from 25 to 40 cents, according to the dealer and his customers. There are men in Atlanta who sell it regularly as butter and their customers never get any genuine butter to eat. The most of them don't know that they are buying oleomargarine. They only know that the butter tastes coarse and bad, but they are fed on it until they think there is no hope for anything else and decide that there is no good butter in the city. Good Jersey butter sells at 40 cents, but it is scarce. The merchant who can get but it is scarce. The merchant who can get oleomatgarine at 22 cents, therefore, hat plenty of room for profit if he has an ignorans customer to deal with. His butter looks nice and all right, save the coarseness, and if he puts it at 30 or 35 he catches the money of many a poor housewife with an eye to saving at every place. There is some good butter that comes here from East Tennessee and from some parts of Georgia, but the amount is not very considerable. In the winter months the genuine butter is all out of the market by reason of the scarcity of grazing, but now we are not troubled on that score. They now make oleomargarine out of almos anything that is cheap, and it is the low price of the false butter that drives the good article

How OLEOMARGARINE IS MADE.

At an early hour each morning the selected pieces of caul fat taken from animals freshly killed are brought to the manufactory. The assorted fat, free from blood, fis thrown in vals of tepid water. It is soaked for an hour washed with cold water and soaked again. It is now taken out, cut to pieces by a hashing machine, and then transferred to melting tanks, which are set inside other tanks containing water. It is melted at a temperature of from 122° to 124° F., for two or three hours. The scrap settles te the bottom. The emulsion of oil and water at the top is removed, and the clear yellow oil drawn off into wooden tanks. Here it rests for twenty-four hours, so that the stearine may crystallize. The excess of crystallized stearine is removed by straining under pressure. The fluid oil runs out, leaving the stearine cakes as dry and hard as scearine candles. Two steps are now completed. The companies sell it in this form for cooking, or to the dairymen to make into butter. It is a limpid amber-colored oil, substantially like the oil of butter, except that it contains no volatile oils as the butyric caprionic, etc. It is in fact "oleomargarine" in the chemical sense of the term.

CHURNING THE OLEOMARGARINE.

An exchange tells the following interesting story of how the creameries conduct the adulterating process:

To make the caul fat of cattle without reference to age, sex or servitude appear to the sense of touch, taste, smell and sight like natural butter, is an interesting process. It is done so perfectly as to decive the very elect among butter-makers and butter users. Butter made from cream is adulterated with this oil from ten to ninety per cent. As 500 pounds of caul fat, at ten cents, will make 500 pounds of caul fat, at ten cents, will make 500 pounds of butter oil, which, put with pure dairy butter, sells for fifty cents a pound, the temptation to adulteration is a strong one, and on the whole is a devil not always resisted in our vicinity. One instance of quiet indulgence in the temptation to mix in oleo was discovered in a certain creamery by the writer, and as the adulteration was done daily in the presence of visitors who never observed it, the modus operandi is somewhat interesting. This particular creamery was scrupulously clean, this feature being admired by all, and when the operator, in clean, white apron and cap, would stop one of the revolving churns and exhibit the mass of golden, fragrant butter, there were none so mean as to hold a doubt of genuinity. The buttermik, too, bespoke the butter's virginity, and adrink of the cool, refreshing fluid was enough to remove every doubt, even from a detective.

But, after many visits, one got accustomed to the buttermikk, golden mass, etc., and desired to see the charge go in. Here was the rub, for a wide, open eye discerns the operator bring three cans, of about ten gallons capacity, full of sour cream, and their contents are, one after the other, dumped into the huge churn. The cream from these cans looks and smells like the article our mothers used to peur from the stone jar into the cedar cylinder. The operator carefully drains and sets these aside, and now brings a fourth can, seemingly from the same lot as the first, a

THE JOLLY JULY

Since the Snook interview appeared in The Constitution a few lays ago, touching the celebration of the 4th of July, the question has been fully and freely discussed by the patriotic citizens of Atlanta, and the present indications are that the day will be a big one, but in this as in all other things there must be a beginning. The railroads have all signified a willingness to innexcursion trains and to aid in advertising the day and its attractions so that a big crowd may be secured. The Richmond and Danville road will give cheap rates, and claim to be able to run into Atlanta at least three thousand will induce five thousand visitors to come. The Western and Atlantic will place excursion tickets on sale at Rome, Chattanooga and intermediate points, and will bring in two thousand persons. The Central will bring up all who want to see the fun, and the crowd may be be put down at fifteen hundred. The Georgia road can fetch two thousand more, and then the city would be a part to the construction of the confident o t Once a Year, and Atlanta Will Celebrat be put down at fifteen hundred. The Georgia road can fetch two thousand more, and then the city would have about ten to twelve thousand visitors. Now, that the railroads have manifested a willingness and a desire to bring the crowd, it only remains for the citizens of Atlanta to offer the right inducements. But what are these inducements? There is but one way to decide that, and that is by a meeting of the citizens. Let them get together one evening this week and organize the work. Let them appoint committees, and in a few hours the celebration will assume shape. If it is the desire of the business men of Atlanta to draw a crowd and profit by it, let them get to work at once.

With every one to whom The Constitution representatives have talked there is a desiretto see the crowd, and in every instance a hearty promise of aid of any kind. Mayor English is anxious to aid in the arrangements, and will do all in his power to further the plans advanced by those who will take the matter in hand.

Yesterday a well known business man of the city said to a Constitution reporter: "I hope you will be able to work up a Fourth of July celebration. We can lose nothing and may gain considerably by it. I have just received a letter from an artist in his line, who says, 'I write to make the following proposition, viz: To offer the public a pyrotecnic battle and afterwards a grand display of fire works on the night of the 4th. I can represent any battle of history or plan a pitched battle for the occasion and carry out the same with exactness and grand effect. Would suggest as suitable for your people the "Storming of a Castle," in which I would represent the engagement of five thousand troops—three field batteries, etc., on the one side and five hundred troops, four heavy guns and three mortars on the other side. One feature of the engagement being taking the castle, burning the same and exploding the magazine. After the battle a display of fire-works, including the same and exploding the magazine. After the battle a display of fire-works, including meteoric balloons, flight of dragons, etc. The cost of material, advertising and thoroughly "working up" the enterprise would be about $375. If the merchants, hotels, citizens, etc., will donate this amount and allow me to charge a 'nominal price of admission, say 25 cents per capita, I will carry out the above programme. Or, if the citizens will donate $800 I will expend the $375 under your direction and make the exhibition free to all. It will require about three weeks to arrange battlefield and thoroughly advertise the occasion, so there is no time to lose." From this letter it will be seen that it will cost the city about $1,000 to get up the right sort of anusement. That is a small sum and can be raised within two hours by the proper committee. Now what will you do? When and where will you meet?

CASTLEMAN COMPREHENDS The Second Ward Situation and Explains it-He Wants the South Side Horse Car Line Built. "Then you really mean to build the South Side street railroad," was the remark made by a Constitution representative to Mr. H. Castleman yesterday.

"Of course we do, and we shall begin work expended. The streets are awful in the winter and the people have no way of getting home without passing through it. They should be given an equal chance with the other wards, and the bill will do that. Why look from Washington street across to Whitehall, the boundaries of the ward, and show me where one cent of money has been spent by the city. Washington, McDonough, Whitehall and Peachtree have all had the chain-gang labor, and I think we should have it in the second ward a little while at least." while at least."

"What will the work cost?"

"To make the streets ready for the iron it will require an expenditure of about $4,300. will require an expenditure of about $4,300. The company will have to stand over half of this expense, and the rest we want the city to give not in money or moneyed labor, but in convict work. Why, my dear sir, there are holes in Pryor street that would bury that horse and buzgy."

"When will you begin?"

"That depends upon what the council does.

"When will you begin?"
"That depends upon what the council does.
We hope soon, however. At least before the fall rains set in. Property that brought $166 an acre in '79 has, since the road has been suggested, increased in value to $1,800 per acre. This looks like adding taxes to the city by building the road."

A Disastrous Runaway.
Yesterday a horse attached to a delivery wagon, belonging to Mr. Dolly Shields, became frightened while standing near the junction of Peachtree and Pryor streets. He dashed furiously down Houston to Calhoun, and turning up Calhoun ran to Ellis. He was caught on Ellis street after breaking one of the wheels and becoming entangled in the harness so that he could not run.

The Small-Pox.

Below is the official report of the board of health. It shows that there were no new cases of small-pox yesterday:

OFFICE OF THE BOARD OF HEALTH OF THE CITY OF OFFICE OF THE BOARD OF HEALTH OF THE CITY OF ATLANTA: ATLANTA, GA., JUNE 8, 1832.—HON JAMES W. English, Mayor—Sir: The total number of cases of small-pox developed in the city within the last twenty-four hours—since date at last report—none. Respectfully, W. S ARMSTRONG, M. D., JAMES B. MAIRD M. D., Secretary. President. Attest: J. W. English, Mayor.

Raffling the Mare 'Kate.''
Mr. Park Woodward is to raffle the mare and buggy that he won at the Kimball house Wednesday night. The raffle will take place next Wednesday night at half-past eight. There will be one hundred chances at ten dollars a chance. The mare was formerly owned by Mr. Sanders Jones, and is said to be the fastest animal in the city.

New Books for the Library.

The library committee of the Young Mens' library association are now engaged in preparing an order for new books. They will be glad to receive suggestions and titles from members or from anybody who expects to become a member of the library. Lists or points may be handed to the librarian or to any member of the library committee.

knew that Mr. Rice would not submit to an interview and at the same time he knew that if he returned to the office without a half column of "Rice and the Belt road" his head would come off.

But luck was with the reporter as it generally is with every other miserable creature, for while he was standing at the Prior street crossing watching for coming events, Mr. Rice drove up in his buggy. His horse was a handsome grey, and refused to cross the track on account of the cars standing there. Mentally thanking the cars for their presence, the feberite stepped out and catching the horse by the bridle led him across the railroad.

"Thank you," said Mr. Rice. "But won't you drive with me?"

"Don't care if I do," and in an instant the reporter was seated beside one of Fution county's legislators, discanting upon the fine qualities of the green country colt, which was drawing the buggy.

the buggy.

"How's newspaper business?" asked the representative after the borse talk had reached a finis.

"Don't know. Have quit. Am going to work up the Richmond and Danville Belt railroad," was the reporter's reply.

"I told you no when you were in the news-paper business, but now I'll say I'll let you know in plenty of time."

know in plenty of time."

Then after a short pause the reporter remarked, "You say the Belt road is only three miles long?"

"Yes, about three miles. You see it leaves the Richmond and Danville about five miles above Atlanta and strikes the Georgia Paeific about three miles the other side. So you see the other side. So you see the Belt road is a great deal the shortest. From the point where it leaves the Richmond and Danville to the point where it strikes the Georgia Pacific it is about nine miles if you come through the town, but only about three if you go around."

"Do you think we will allow any other roads to use the track."

"You mean for transferring freight cars? I really don't know, but I guess we will if they will pay trackage. I can't see why we should not. This thing of switching freight trains about the streets of Atlanta is a nuisance and is becoming intolerable. After the Richmond and Danville builds the Belt I can't see why the other roads shouldn't use it. But where shall I not you Orme will pull the bell cord.

These exhibitions have been held art. These exhibitions have been held in different cities throughout the country, and have received a generous patronage. Atlanta is a progressive city. Within a few years there has been a commendable growth in her buildings, both public and private; in the furnishing and adorning of these buildings; there has been a vast improvement in her schools and school buildings; in her laye and chools and school buildings; in her love and cultivation of fruits and flowers; and it is natural there should be a growth in a love of the beautiful in works of art. This is the first exhibition of its character ever held in this city, and doubtless it will be attended with great success.
